

PRESIDENT ON WAY TO SOUTH DAKOTA

IS LINDBERGH TURNING EYES TO POLITICS?

Washington Speculates Over Future of Conqueror of Atlantic Ocean

WOULD AID U. S. AVIATION
If Flier Were 10 Years Older
He Would Be Considered
by Politicians

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1927 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Standing beside his father at the parade, a little boy asked:
"Do you suppose they will ever make Lindbergh president?"
"Why should they?" was the father's question.
"Because he has done a great deed,"
was the reply.

Others who overheard the conversation wondered too, what the future
might have in store for Charles Lindbergh.
He is only twenty-five and the constitution of the United States requires that presidents shall be at least thirty-five years old. So the question really is, what have the next ten years in store for Lindbergh and is fame everlasting or ephemeral? Certainly the fever of excitement and enthusiasm is such that if Lindbergh were ten years older and received such popular acclaim he would be discussed politically just as have other national heroes in the past.

HAS TWO ESSENTIALS
So far as common sense and good sense are concerned, young Lindbergh has the two fundamentals which always have appealed to the imagination of the American people in selecting their chief executive. He has a good education and a firmness of purpose which would make it possible for him to study government as well as aviation.
It is quite possible that he might be urged to run for the house of representatives as the age qualification is only twenty-five. For the senate he would have to be thirty. If he went to the house of representatives he would be following in the footsteps of his father. As for the political views of his parent, however, the latter was known as a radical and was one of the men who staunchly voted against American entry into the war—an act which at the time probably required a good deal more courage than to go with the crowd psychology in favor of war.

Young Lindbergh's thoughts today are away from politics but if he sincerely believed that his presence in the house of representatives might aid the cause of aviation, then it is conceivable that the matter eventually would be given thought. His primary interests are in aviation. In his brief speech here he made no reference to himself but to the possibilities of aviation. It is this in which he has become in a sense a true leader. He has accomplished already what many hundreds have tried to do in the twenty years, namely, to awaken the nation to the possibilities of aviation both for national defense and commercial uses.

POLITICAL FUTURE
The welcome given Lindbergh is so astounding that it is natural for political Washington to be wondering if there is a political future ahead for this aviator. Certainly the reception given him differs from that ever accorded any living man for it is given by persons of all political parties. It is as nearly a unanimous expression of approval as ever has been extended to a single individual.

Does fame last? It depends on the beliefs of the man. But in politics
a reputation gained in youth frequently repays for many years afterward.
Men who now are coming into their own in politics. The boys and girls who applaud Lindbergh today will ten years hence constitute the bulk of the voting population. Lindbergh is their hero—the generation of tomorrow holds his political future
in their custody.

FARM RELIEF IS STIFF
PROBLEM, GOVERNOR SAYS
Madison—(AP)—Although the legislature has passed a bill for the relief of the state farm relief "is a pretty stiff problem," Governor Zimmerman Tuesday told a group of two score of farmers from Marinette Co.
They visited his office as a part of their tour of the southern part of the state. The farmers, most of them daymen, are visiting other dairy farms and the capital city.

The governor, after being introduced to the men individually, commented them on "taking a short vacation and seeing how we other fellows do things," and said that although many of the legislators probably had ideas of farm relief measures, "they may have found it difficult to select a sound solution."

STATIONS MUST OBSERVE
NEW U. S. ALLOCATIONS
Washington—(AP)—Radio stations which fail to observe the new frequency allocations of the federal radio commission which becomes effective at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, will have their license revoked.

NEW YORK TO HONOR ACE AT CIVIC DINNER

Princes of Finance, Politics and Society Heap Honors on Lindbergh

BULLETIN
Cincinnati—(AP)—Within one hour

"given the highest honor con-

attend the convention of the Wisconsin Department of the American Le-

of the coming convention, who extended the Badger invitation to the

New York—(AP)—Colonel Charles
A. Lindbergh made a flying trip by automobile to Mitchell and Curtis flying fields on Long Island early Tuesday to pay an informal call on his friends the pilots, mechanics and officers who helped in his preparations for his New York to Paris hop.

Slipping out of the Park-ave.
apartment where he and his mother had spent the night, Lindbergh got away about 7 o'clock. He rode in the car of "Casey" Jones, Curtiss test pilot, and "Casey" himself was at the wheel.
A hard rain, which necessitated abandonment of the school children's welcome celebration scheduled for Central park Tuesday afternoon did not prevent the colonel from carrying out his wish to thank the fellows of the air fields for their courtesies.

ACTRESS NAMED IN LIQUOR SMUGGLING

Madge Bellamy and Mother Facing Probe by United States Authorities

Los Angeles—(AP)—The names of Madge Bellamy, motion picture star and her mother, Mrs. Anna Philpot, were linked with a federal investigation of an alleged liquor smuggling conspiracy here Tuesday as Assistant United States District Attorney
George O'Connell gathered evidence which he expects to lay before a grand jury Wednesday.

O'Connell announced that the screen actress and her mother had been asked to appear before him to answer questions regarding their knowledge of treatment and liberties given federal prisoners in the Organs-ville jail during the past year, when the smuggling conspiracy is alleged to have been in full swing.

Mrs. Philpot was said to have made several visits to a man in the jail who was serving a sentence for liquor law violations. An attorney appeared Monday for Miss Bellamy and her mother saying the actresses were busy on location. No date was set for the appearance of the two women and it was announced the two for questioning would be fixed to suit the actress' convenience.

sworth, Ohio, as one of the seven robbers who escaped with $208,000 cash and securities. Barker, who has a long criminal record, was returned here Monday. Henry A. Dugman, cashier and vice president, Marion Landisch, a stenographer, and Lars were riding, allowing the boat to fill with water. The women worked all night to bail out the water and keep the launch afloat until morning when they were rescued by other launch parties. Articles of clothing were used to stop up the hole caused by the broken shaft. The party is under a doctor's care.

Measure Provides for a Permanent Tax Research Board for Wisconsin

Madison—(AP)—A thorough study of Wisconsin's tax problems and the desire to arrive at some constructive tax policy was advocated by the state senate Tuesday in the engrossment of a bill calling for such a survey.
The bill, a substitute measure by Senator Hull, introduced in favor of one by Senator Casperson, calls for a permanent tax study body to be known as the citizens' tax research board.
The board would be made of representatives of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, state manufacturers' and business associations and one practical farmer to be selected by the governor.
A personal property tax repeal pro-defeated by a 14-9 vote. The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Nelson, had passed the lower house.

At Mount Rushmore, N. D., where the

CANINE THIEF SAVES HIS MASTER FROM BULL—WINS PARDON

Rockford, Ill.—(AP)—A small dog which he was to kill in a few minutes as an egg stealer, Tuesday probably saved the life of William P. Pierce, 69, a farmer residing near Oregon, Ill., when he was attacked by a bull.
The bull had Pierce on the ground and was gnawing him when the dog came to the rescue. The dog nipped the bull on the nose and bit him on the heels until he turned his attention from the man to his tormentor. Then others, attracted to the scene by cries of Mrs. Mac Pierce's housekeeper, who had unsucessfully tried to drive the bull off with a pitchfork, dragged Pierce to safety.
While Pierce was badly injured physicians think he may live. The dog's sentence has been commuted from death to all the eggs he can eat.

PRICES BREAK SHARPLY ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York—(AP)—Stock prices broke wide open on the New York

the haste to sell stocks that many broke 5 to 10 points. The heaviest decreases were recorded in high priced issues.

Finding varieties of trouble after a flashy getaway, Bobby Jones, the de-

holes.
Harry Cooper of Sacramento, Calif.,

SEEK FRENCHMEN IN NORTHERN QUEBEC

Paris, Discounts Possibility That Flares Were Lighted
by Missing Men

Paris—(AP)—The report that the missing French fliers, Nungesser and Coll, might be in northern Quebec, based on the sighting of flares from a mountain region there, was discounted here by the statement that they left flares behind when they hopped off from Le Bourget field on their attempted trans-Atlantic flight.

FOUR SEE FLARES

Quebec—(AP)—The possibility that Captains Charles Nungesser and Francis Coll, missing French trans-Atlantic aviators, may be stranded in the north of the province of Quebec was raised Tuesday by receipt of a telegram at the parliament building from a forestry employe at St. Germain township, north of the Saguenay river.

THE MAN STATED FOR HALF AN HOUR ON SUNDAY NIGHT, BEGINNING AT ABOUT 8 O'CLOCK STANDARD TIME, DISTRESS SIGNALS IN THE FORM OF FLARES SENT UP AT INTERVALS OF ABOUT THREE MINUTES WERE TOWNSHIP. THE FLARES WERE SEEN BY FOUR PERSONS.

The flares used were modern ones,
and it is pointed out that the Indians or trappers in that region would light only fires in case of distress.

MEMPHIS MAN LEADING IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Oakmont, Pa.—(AP)—With more than half the field reported for the first 18 holes of the national open golf championship into Tuesday, Harry Hampton, of Memphis, Tenn., went into the lead with a 73 Hamilton shot par golf going out and came home one under par.

Finding varieties of trouble after a
flashy getaway, Bobby Jones, the defending titleholder, wound up with a 76, four over par, for the first 18
holes.
Harry Cooper of Sacramento, Calif.,
finishing a few minutes behind Jones, scored 74, two strokes below the champion, and gained a temporary lead over the field. Cooper, like Jones needed 25 strokes home after going out in 25, two under par.

Johnny Farrell finished with 81,
taking an eight on the twelfth hole
where he found his ball half buried in mud and water. Willie MacFarlane, former open champion, took 82, and Joe Turnesa required 81. Leo Biggel came in with 78 and was installed among the stars, all scores under 80 being considered remarkable in the face of the trying weather conditions.

110 PASTORS AT FUNERAL OF MURDERED MINISTER

Sheboygan—(AP)—Approximately 110
Lutheran pastors and school teachers from all parts of Wisconsin attended the funeral of the Rev. William Wambegans, pastor of Bethlehem church, Monday afternoon. The pastor was murdered last Thursday by Walter Dorringer, 27, who also murdered his father Frank Dorringer, and then committed suicide.

DEPUTY SHERIFF IS SHOT TO DEATH ON MOTORCYCLE

head, Hans Lindstrom, 20, deputy sheriff, was found dead Monday night,

RUM FLOW BOARD IN ONTARIO GIVEN WIDE AUTHORITY

Has Complete Power in Sale of Liquor Throughout Entire Province

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
Toronto, Ont.,—When Premier Ferguson saw an overwhelming majority uphold his "wet" platform in the 1926 elections, he promised to appoint "a strong man" as head of the Ontario Liquor Control Board. He has kept his promise.

D. B. Hanna, the man he named, formerly was president of the Canadian National Railways, and generally is considered one of the biggest men in Canada. Certainly he is one of the wealthiest. He is Chief Commissioner of the Liquor Control Board and has two assistants, R. J. Manion and Stewart McClenaghan.

NO APPEAL FROM BOARD
The board, which has its headquarters here, wields a tremendous amount of power. It may do just about as it pleases in regulating the sale and distribution of liquor. It may sell to whom and when it pleases, any place in Ontario except in certain sections which are under local option. The law gives the board very wide discretionary powers, and there is no appeal from its rulings.

It may revoke or suspend citizen permits. It may determine the amount of liquor anyone may buy. It has sole charge of the licensing of breweries and distilleries and wineries.

Hanna thus outlines the situation: "We are not going to make it hard for any persons to get a drink if they do so within the spirit and the letter of the law."

"But I want it distinctly understood that we are not going to stand for any nonsense from anybody. We are not going to have Ontario made the scene of any bacchanalian riots or Belshazzar feasts."

COURTESY, BUT—
"Tourists will be accorded every courtesy. We want them to enjoy themselves. So long as they do not abuse their privileges everything will run smoothly."

"However, I want to warn everyone that we will deal most severely with violations. I have warned all our liquor people that unless they play with us in true 100 per cent fashion—well, the Lord help 'em, because no one else will."

Brewers in Ontario must have licenses, which cost $5,000 each. Every bottle of beer they issue must bear the stamp of the Liquor Control Board across its top. The same provision applies to hard liquors, too. Citizens who have private stocks now have 20 days in which to file affidavits giving the amount of their holdings with the board. After 90 days it will be illegal for anyone to possess liquor which does not bear the Liquor Control Board's stamp.

The new law virtually has stopped bootlegging, and Hanna intends that bootlegging never shall be revived. He has a small army of detectives and inspectors checking up on every brewery and distillery in the province.

Ontario had a ten-year drought. It passed a provincial temperance act in 1916, and it was not until last fall. Of late years, however, it had been plain that the tide of public sentiment was going against prohibition.

OPINIONS CHANGE
In 1919 retention of the temperance act was put up for popular vote. The drys won by a majority of around 407,000.

In 1921 there was a vote on whether the importation of liquors into the province should be prohibited. The dry majority shrank to 347,000.

In 1925 another plebiscite was held

LINDY GREET'S WOUNDED WAR VETERANS

No part of Charles Lindbergh's second day in Washington was more impressive than his visit to Walter Reed hospital, where he met wounded veterans of the World War. This picture shows the man who risked his life to fly over the Atlantic shaking hands with the men who sacrificed their health and strength to gain victory in France.

ENROLL STUDENTS IN ENTERTAINMENT WORK

Miss Mary Farrell, who has been assigned to the Appleton district office of the University of Wisconsin Extension division has within two weeks enrolled 12 high schools of this vicinity for Joyce and entertainment courses for next year. Two weeks ago she included the three Appleton Junior high schools, and Kimberly and Kaukauna in her list. Last week she added two Green Bay schools, Kewaunee and Del'ere.

COUNTY'S QUOTA FOR TRAINING CAMP REACHED

The county's quota of boys for the Citizens Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan next summer again has been filled, according to Lieut. P. O. Keicher, county enrollment officer. The quota of 28 was reached several weeks ago but was cut to 27 when one boy failed to pass his physical examination. The mark was reached again last week with the enrollment of Alton Cross, an Appleton high school student.

on prohibition. The drys won, but a scant 34,000 majority.

Last year Premier Ferguson was finishing term. He had sponsored a year previous, the introduction of 44 per cent beer, but it soon became apparent that this pleased nobody. So, last fall, Ferguson drafted his liquor control bill. It passed parliament by a huge majority, and Ferguson made it his sole plank in the provincial election.

The voters upheld it by a majority of nearly 300,000 votes.

LINDBERGH STAMPS WILL GO ON SALE HERE NEXT MONTH

Supply Is Expected Shortly
After They Are Introduced
July 18

A supply of the new air mail stamps which are being issued in honor of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the intrepid air mail pilot who made the first nonstop flight from New York to Paris, is expected at the local post office soon after the first issue has been placed on sale. The first stamps will be sold July 18 at post offices in St. Louis, Mo., Detroit, Mich., Little Falls, Minn., and Washington, D. C. They also will be placed on sale on the same date at the Philatelic agency, Division of Stamps, postoffice department.

The new air mail stamps will be placed on sale at other postoffices as promptly as production will permit. The central design represents Lindbergh's airplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

The new stamp will be of the same size and shape as the 10-cent air mail stamp which it will replace, and will be printed in blue. It is intended to cover the first letter-mail rate of air mail postage.

Across the top of the stamp, in white Roman letters, are the words, "United States postage," with the words, "Lindbergh Air Mail," directly beneath. At the left of the central design appears the coast line of the North American continent with the words, "New York" in small dark letters, and to the right appears the coast line of Europe, showing Ireland, Great Britain and France with the word, "Paris," also in small dark letters.

A dotted line depicting the course of the flight to France connects the two cities. At the bottom of the stamp, in shaded letters, is the word "Cents" and in both lower corners are the white numerals, "10". The stamp is enclosed within a straight line border.

HUNG UP HIS WIFE
Chicago — Being hung up on the wall like an overcoat was too much for Eleanor Denfield, so she sought a divorce. Her husband she said, had a playful habit of tying her arms over a coat hanger and then holding her to an iron hook where he would let her hang until he decided to let her down. Eleanor got the divorce.

In the British navy, 90 per cent of the sailors make their own clothes. Ready-made suits are not popular with them.

United States Tires
are Good Tires

PLENTY OF RUBBER in United States Tires starts out in the Far East—on the United States Rubber Company's Plantation. This Company owns 10,000,000 rubber trees—enough to make an unbroken line nearly twice around the earth. Seven million of these trees are producing rubber.

YOU'VE a question to ask—
"How do I know that there's plenty of Rubber in Royal Cord Balloons?"

Anatural question. You can't see all this "plenty of rubber"—and you can't tell it by weighing the tires. A tire manufacturer can make a tire weigh almost anything he pleases by "loading" it with heavy substances which add nothing to the wear.

The "Plenty of Rubber" in Royal Cord Balloons is distributed where it will do the most good. Take our word for it—until you prove it for yourself on the wheels of your car.

LINDBERGH—AN INSPIRATION TO YOUTH

The official homecoming for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh at Washington is said to have been the greatest tribute ever paid a private citizen of the United States. It was an extraordinary demonstration in every respect, not only in the honors bestowed but in the boyish simplicity with which they were received. A month ago he was totally unknown to the public. Today he is idolized by the entire nation—indeed, by several nations. Why? It is not solely because of the daring and momentous feat he performed. Other factors enter into his "perfect" popularity. One of these is his bearing under the load of greatness he is suddenly called upon to carry. Another is that the microscopic examination to which a man in his position is instantly subjected has revealed a character and personality that Americans, in spite of their jazz proclivities, still retain in the background as an ideal and as typical of their country's youth.

Lindbergh is no pool room devotee. He is not a swaggering model for the house of Gingerbread's clothes. He does not wear a cigarette in his mouth—does not use tobacco in any form. He is not a lady's man and the center of ecstasy on the ballroom floor—indeed, the press dispatches say he does not know how to dance. He is not a glib conversationalist, nor is he a snob or a prude or a bore. He is, as the president said in bestowing upon him the Distinguished Flying Cross, a "wholesome, earnest, fearless, courageous product of America," who has returned from the plaudits of the world "unspoiled and unsullied." His achievement was "no haphazard adventure;" it was the result "of the most careful preparation, supported by a valiant character, driven by an unconquerable will and inspired by the imagination and the spirit of his Viking ancestors." And finally, "The absence of self-acclaim, the refusal to become commercialized, which has marked the conduct of this sincere and genuine exemplar of fine and noble virtues, has endeared him to everyone."

Col. Lindbergh has brought enduring fame to himself and his country, he has inaugurated an epoch in aviation, he has brought Europe and America into closer sympathy and understanding than a half century of diplomacy, he is an agent of world peace, but the greatest thing he has done, in our opinion, is to set up afresh, a present-day inspiration to the youth of the land—an example by youth to youth. Washington and Lincoln are powerful ideals, but the maturity and fulfillment of their lives are not so easily comprehended by the young. Everything about Lindbergh is, for he is all youth, with its fire and enthusiasm and imagination. No American boy with a spark of worth can know about this "conqueror of the air" without wanting to be like him—not in what he did—but in what he is. Here we have the true type of "sterling youth" to which our moralists and orators refer, but which to most observers seems more idealistic than real. Here we have the burning contrast between a man's man and the milk-fed sop, of which there are far too many in this easy and sophisticated age.

Does it pay to be a man? Does it pay to be clean? Does it pay to study and work like a horse? Does it pay to be unselfish, democratic, sincere and honorable? Does it pay to strive to do something worth while? Is it substance or is it froth that makes for success and happiness? Lindbergh answers such questions. And he should answer it to hundreds of boys who may have been in doubt, who may have been wavering between the call of the automobile and the call of the soul, between the easiest way and the road of striving.

FLAG DAY

Today is Flag Day and this year Old Glory is just 150 years old. In its shadow has arisen, in a century and a half, the greatest nation on earth. Under its beneficent influence the nation has prospered, grown, progressed and achieved. For it and for the principles for which it stands, thousands of brave men have died and other thousands have faced life physically bankrupt.

We Americans think it is the most beautiful flag in the world—but it is pleasing also to know that from an artistic standpoint it is also the most beautiful flag in the world. The combination of color, the symmetry of design, together make it unique among the banners of the nations. For itself it is something to view with appreciation.

But as a symbol it is much more. The Stars and Stripes has journeyed to the far corners of the earth and everywhere its mission has meant justice and right, security and the advancement of humanity.

The legends surrounding the flag are precious to us. We like to think of Betsy Ross painstakingly stitching on the thirteen white stars for the original colonies while Washington looks on with a smile. We like to think of it waving triumphantly that misty morning on the Chesapeake when Francis Scott Key wrote "The Star Spangled Banner," and thus immortalized the flag in the song that has become the national anthem. We like to think of the flag pressing forward in the Argonne and floating grandly above all Paris as Colonel Lindbergh makes his epochal flight.

We like to think of our flag as the emblem of democracy, as a standing for the common brotherhood and equality of mankind.

MUST PASS CONSERVATION BILL

Governor Zimmerman has intimated that if the assembly fails to pass the senate conservation bill he will call the legislature in extra session for its further consideration. We hope the governor means to do what he implies. It appears now that the session will be devoid of any constructive tax legislation. Taxation and conservation were the two important subjects demanding legislative attention. If one is to be sidestepped the other should not. In some respects conservation is the more pressing of the two. We can continue to stagger along under the tax laws a little longer, but too much is involved in the safeguarding of our natural resources, including trees and wild life, to permit of inaction and indifference longer.

A reorganization of our conservation system is an urgent public necessity. It is demanded in the interest of the state and its people. The bill before the legislature is the first move yet made toward taking conservation out of politics and of handling it on its merits. If the assembly does not pass the reorganization bill it will be because it is still serving the politics of the Blaine administration. Unless the legislature wishes to have its shortcomings pointedly drawn to the attention of the people by forcing the governor to call it in extra session, it will get down to business and pass this measure.

OLD MASTERS

Old Sorrow I shall meet again,
And Joy, perchance—but never, never,
Happy Childhood, shall we twain
See each other's face forever!

And yet I would not call thee back,
Dear Childhood, lost the sight of me.
Thine old companion, on the rack
Of Age, should sadden thee.

With college days, sweet college days coming to an end and the old grads returning for happy reunions, it suddenly is discovered that the old school only needs a new million-dollar stadium, a couple of chemistry buildings, a new administration hall and four dormitories. It looks like pocket book research for the old boys who not only would die for dear old Swish but must pay as well. . . . It's time for the old songs again, boys. ## KEEP YOUR HEART WARM AND YOUR BABY COOL

Many cases of "fever" in infants are in reality nothing but excessive warmth or artificial heat. This is one reason, though a minor one, why I advise mothers never to keep a clinical thermometer in the home to take a child's temperature except when this is expressly requested by the physician.

When an infant is subjected to excessive warmth or heat the poor unfortunate baby's temperature rises to fever height, the baby becomes restless, the breathing becomes rapid, and perspiration becomes profuse.

In hot weather babies suffer much more from the heat than do adults or even older children. It is quite the custom among people of all kinds, that are fairly intelligent, to keep the baby wrapped with all sorts of warm clothing even when the dog days make clothing a trial to the strongest of us. Of course this refined cruelty is at its worst among the slum and tenement dwellers, whose infants die off like flies in hot summer weather. But many a baby in a spacious, airy home is treated just as badly.

When the dog days come and the heat oppresses, the baby should be kept at all except a diaper and maybe a tent of mosquito net to keep off the flies, if you cultivate flies. At night, when the baby is ready for bed, a light muslin night dress is ample cover in hot weather. No blankets or other bed clothing, unless it turns chilly toward morning. As long as the baby's hands and feet do not feel cold to your touch you may be sure the baby is warm enough in any circumstances.

In July, 1925, during the extreme heat and sultry air, Drs. Dodd and Wilkinson observed the effect upon five infants in Nashville. The children were well nourished, gaining weight, slept on a porch screened from direct sun. The first day of the hot weather the air temperature rose to 95 and every infant had a body temperature of 100 or over. On the following days the air temperature rose to nearly or quite 100 sometimes and never dropped below 95 to 98, and the children all had temperatures of from 100 to 101.5, for which no other cause could be found than the hot weather. The children were irritable and restless and cried a good deal. This went on for five days. On the sixth day the children were moved to a room where a large tub of ice and salt was placed. One electric fan blew directly on the ice, and two others were set on high wall brackets so that they blew the air against the ceiling. Throughout the hot spell the air had been very quiet. These fans kept it constantly moving. The room temperature was just over 80 the first day, and did not go above 88 on the following days. As soon as the children were placed in this cooled room their fever came down, they all stopped crying and whimpering and went off into a peaceful sleep.

Hot still air is the cause of most heat strokes in adults. An electric fan is a good investment in health as well as comfort, if one is restless with the heat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dec-Lighted to Agree With Grandma

Our 7 year old daughter thinks the carbonated beverages are a gift of the gods, and she spends many dimes for them. Her grandma insists such stuff "ain't no good for nobody." Please give us your opinion. (R. M. M.)

Answer—In my opinion all carbonated beverages are an abomination to the stomach and deleterious to the health of the child. Let the child have the fresh fruit beverages, such as lemonade, orangeade, grape juice, and the like without any fancy fixings. I hold this opinion of the carbonated beverages without particular objection to them—I think plain soda water if taken habitually or frequently instead of water or natural fruit drinks is an abomination to the stomach. This won't bring any cheers from the bottlers, but I am glad to be heartily in accord with grandma. My opinion of carbonated beverages is not shared by certain health officers. But then, that's nothing extraordinary.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY ON—

COUNTERFEITERS AND THE NEW CURRENCY

Washington, D. C. — The decision of the Treasury Department to reduce the size of United States currency is expected to result in an increased effort on the part of counterfeiters to pass their spurious product upon the public. They have their plates made and many have substantial supplies of printed currency on hand. Counterfeiters usually pass out their wares rather gingerly; that is, the experienced ones do, knowing that to flood the market at any one time or place invites apprehension.

With currency of new design and especially of a reduced size to be issued by the Government, the old plates and ready-printed currency will become obsolete, so caution will be partially set aside to get rid of stocks on hand and make the fullest practicable use of the plates before the appearance of the new money.

The actual counterfeiters very rarely pass any of their own product. Being sufficiently clever men to be able to imitate currency, they also have wit enough to know that it is best to work in the dark. Persons with the criminal instincts necessary to the use of spurious money but lacking the skill to produce it form a brotherhood or a trade all by itself. They are, of course, in league with the counterfeiters. They buy the counterfeit money for a low price, depending to some extent on the bargaining ability of the respective Parties and also upon the quality of the spurious product. The price of a five-dollar counterfeit may run anywhere from one to three dollars. The professional passer, of course, puts the money into circulation at its full face value.

Passer and counterfeiters have each other pretty much in each other's power as either is in a position to inform on the crime of the other. In consequence they are careful of their dealings.

In recent years counterfeiting has altered to some extent. While new money constantly is being made there has been a tendency to turn more to the raising of the denominations of genuine notes. The numeral on a five-dollar bill, a ten becomes a hundred, a hundred becomes a thousand, and a thousand becomes a million. This change, making it into a fifty-dollar bill, a ten becomes a hundred-dollar bill.

MODERN METHODS ARE USED

Investigations of the Secret Service show that the profession of counterfeiting has marched with the times and that modern methods are being used very extensively. There are few if any more of the old hand-engraved counterfeits appearing. Photo-lithography has taken the place of the hand work. If done with skill such a counterfeit is indeed dangerous as there are not present the differences in detail which often identify a hand-copied note design.

The camera is the basis of practically all counterfeiting operations among the modern fraternity and increasing skill is required on the part of the Secret Service to detect the work of the better craftsman.

Distinctive paper remains one of the principal safeguards of United States currency. This paper, manufactured by a private corporation for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, is guarded as carefully as stocks of finished notes. In fact there is reason for guarding it more closely. The paper which might be used for printing five-dollar notes could, if it fell into the hands of a counterfeiter, be employed for printing thousands of five-dollar notes. If the photo-lithography were excellent, his highest hurdle would have been jumped in having the distinctive paper.

The days of such counterfeiters as Jim the Penman seem to be definitely over. He actually, copied by hand, with pen and ink, notes of various denominations and only a close scrutiny would result in detection. His links were colored black, green, or blue as the design called for. He was apprehended, however, by the Secret Service.

Agood deal of spurious American money is put into circulation first in foreign countries. Inasmuch as the American dollar stood the shock of war when nearly all other currencies were at a discount, it stands high in the regard of all peoples. A portrait of Washington or Lincoln, the American eagle, the words "United States of America"—all symbolize monetary stability to the foreign mind and the foreigner is quite ready to take American money. Also he is too inept in handling it to detect spurious issues. Nor is he likely to detect a raised note.

When spurious notes ultimately come to a foreign branch of an American bank the examiners, usually Americans, detect the counterfeits and the raised notes. The counterfeits are worthless, but the raised notes will be accepted for what their original face represented. Thus, if a Frenchman presented a fifty-dollar note which had been raised from a five, he would receive credit only for five dollars.

NATIONS NOW COOPERATE

There has been much progress made since the war in cooperation between the authorities of foreign nations and the United States and this month there is to be an international conference at Geneva under the auspices of the League of Nations for the purpose of discussing additional means of protecting the currencies of the several nations.

Although the United States is not a member of the League of Nations, it will be represented at the conference by an official observer in the person of W. H. Moran, Chief of the Secret Service. Because of the important position of the United States in world affairs, especially those of a monetary nature, it is a foregone conclusion that Chief Moran will take a leading part in the discussions. It is likely that some international agreement will arise from the conference which will cement cooperation of police agencies and make the path of the counterfeiter a straighter and narrower one and, perhaps, ultimately close it up entirely.

Much attention has been given recently to trade-marks bearing a resemblance to currency and an arrangement has been entered into whereby any marks submitted to the Trade Mark Division of the Patent Office for registration which resembles currency or currency symbols is first submitted to the Secret Service for an opinion as to whether such a mark might tend to give the use to which it was put a color of official origin.

It is contrary to existing statutes to reproduce a likeness of currency in any form. This law is carried out to the letter. An instance is the confiscation by the Secret Service of an oil painting which included a representation of money. The currency painted in the picture could not conceivably have been used, even though cut from the canvas, but the representation transgressed the letter of the law and so was confiscated.

Counterfeiting, of course, has extended to Liberty Bonds, to Treasury checks in payment for services or goods, and to other evidences of indebtedness by the Government.

In all its work the Secret Service finds that the man who seeks to get something for nothing by counterfeiting sooner or later is taken and sent to prison—usually sooner. And further, that if the same men would devote the same amount of energy and skill to legitimate endeavor their returns would be as great or greater and the shadow of prison walls would not be forever over them.

Strawberries may be grown successfully in every state in the Union.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — A couple of years ago there was a little place on Rector street that started those who passed it for the first time with a sign which made this menacing threat:

"RIOTS, Revolts and STRIKES—on ten hours notice."

As a matter of fact the shopowner led a more or less peaceful life and his task was furnishing Broadway plays and movies with mobs of all sorts.

He knew gangsters, east-side types, Italians, Russians, Poles, Armenians, Jews and all the other foreign folk. He could direct a Roman mob or a ghetto street scene with equal ease and, for this, he received a stipulated sum from the producer and a cut on the salary of the "mob."

There were others about that time who flourished in a more sinister trade, but they didn't advertise the fact. They could, almost on a moment's notice, produce "plug-uglies" for almost any occasion.

To the East Side workers happened to be on strike and there was the necessity for a little disturbance, a dozen sluggers or more could be obtained without much difficulty. Or a private feud could be settled for a few dollars with a strong-arm man providing the slugging. Brutality came cheap a few years back and gangmen, resting between feuds were open to side engagements.

Chicago gang tactics may have made the old racket look cheap, but certain it is that the thug hiring is more or less out of style.

The hiring of "mobs" has also undergone a change.

It is no longer a hit-or-miss proposition. The films' demand definite types and trust their selection to trained casting men.

A great deal of this odd business falls to the hands of one Herman Thaler, a young man who acts in the Yiddish theatres of the East Side, but who, on one hour's notice, produced six pretzel vendors and half a dozen pickle vendors, to say nothing of a few dozen odd tailors and patriachs.

A story goes the rounds of how Charles Darrow, the lawyer, summoned a number of New York reporters who have been in the habit of making paragraphic comments on his apparel.

With feigned seriousness he took them to task commenting on his clothes and, opening his coat, showed the name of one of the best tailors.

"You see, I get my clothes at the best places," he commented, "I pay more money for them than most men. The only difference is that most people take their clothes off when they go to sleep."

To date there may be found in Manhattan—the "Lindy Lind," a hat; a "Lindy sandwich," three "Lindy hops," innumerable Lindy songs, half a dozen Lindy badges, a Lindy airplane for a Lindy solo dance in vaudeville, depicting the "conquering of the seas"—and heaven knows what else.

The Question Box

Q. What is viatka squirrel? K. M. M.

A. Viatka squirrel is the trade for dyed Siberian squirrel fur.

Q. Is there a musical called the ocean? J. S. M.

A. Grove's Dictionary of Musicians makes the following comment on this: "A family of small terra cotta instruments in character somewhat resembling the flageolets made at various sizes and introduced into this country by German or Tyrolese musicians. They are of no musical significance. They have a hollow, sweet sound, similar to that of a stopped organ pipe."

Q. Is it true that Luther Burbank developed an ear of corn having fourteen rows? H. P.

A. It is said that Burbank propagated a fourteen-row corn. This corn, however, has never become of any economic importance.

Q. Is there such a thing as a "flying coach"? C. P.

A. The Biological Survey says that fully natured cockroaches develop wings, so that they can fly.

HELPING AGRICULTURE

BY DON E. MOWRY

Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association

Too many cities believe that all their problems lie within the city limits. Their interests are purely metropolitan, and they overlook the fact that much of their prosperity depends on the development of the surrounding countryside.

Sheridan Wagon Commercial Club has shown one way in which a city agricultural and stock-raising industries can gain the good will of farmers and stock raisers.

Finding three boys who showed marked ability in judging stock, the Sheridan Commercial club decided to finance these boys and send them to the national stock-judging shows.

The team won the Wyoming state stock judging contest; then the Denver National Western Stock Show contest; then the Midland Empire Fair contest at Billings, and finally the International non-collegiate contest at Chicago.

Sheridan's Commercial Club is proud of the part it played in developing interest in stock raising. For years the club has thoroughly cooperated with agricultural and stock-raising industries. They recognize that farm and factory must team together. Now they are fostering cooperative marketing of farm products.

COUNCIL WILL BE ASKED TO CONSIDER PARKING PROBLEM

Mayor Thinks City Must Do Something About Finding Places for Cars

The parking problem which long has been the cause of much discussion by the alderman, probably will be brought to the attention of the common council again Wednesday night by Mayor Albert C. Rule, he indicated Tuesday.

Although he has no definite proposal to offer, he will recommend that a committee be appointed to conduct a thorough investigation and submit a complete report at a later council meeting.

Limiting the time motorists may park their cars on certain streets probably will be the most favored solution if the council sees fit to act on the matter, it is believed.

"The habit of parking automobiles in the business section for many hours daily, greatly inconveniences shopkeepers," he said. "And it is not the customers, but the merchants and their employees who are the most flagrant violators."

"Office employees drive to work in the morning, park their cars in front of their places of employment, and leave them there all day long. If a customer wishes to enter that particular business house, the chances are he will have to park his machine in the next block or even farther away."

The danger of parking automobiles on narrow streets also was pointed out by the mayor.

During church services or lodge meetings, it often is impossible for two cars to pass opposite directions on same streets, the mayor said. Either such streets should be made one-way thoroughfares, or should be permitted on only one side of the street, he believes.

Alderman Mike Steinhauer, of the First ward, chairman of the streets and bridges committee, may be made the object of some fiery thrust from two or three of the council members if the latter carry out threats made within the last few days.

Without the sanction of the council, Alderman Steinhauer, as chairman of the above mentioned committee, recently raised the grade of a sidewalk on the west side of S. Leminwah-st after property owners had vigorously objected to the grade established there last year, it is reported.

CEMENT WALL ONLY WAY TO STOP HUGE FLOODS

Intensive rainfall and destruction were the principal causes for floods cited by Prof. Rufus M. Baggs of the geology department at Lawrence college, in a talk on the prevention of floods in the Mississippi river valley Monday to members of the Lions club at the Conway hotel.

Dams will not keep the floods from the Mississippi, the speaker believed, but suggested the building of a concrete retaining wall some distance back from the river. Some of the difficulties might be removed, he said, by cutting off exchows and taking out bends of the river with artificial canals.

Floods are more frequent each year and each successive flood is of greater intensity, Dr. Baggs stated. No remedy can be found in a study of rainfall statistics, he said, for the total fall of the year might be the same as in the preceding one but it may have been more concentrated.

The greatest difficulty to overcome in the Mississippi flood problem lies in the Ohio river. The Ohio is often flooded and the great volume of water emptied into the Mississippi taxes the larger stream.

William Fallattek presided in the absence of the president, Frank Younger, who is the club delegate to the national convention at Miami, Fla.

ASSEMBLY MAY BALK AT SUPERIOR SCHOOL BILL

Madison—(AP)—The senate bill under which the City of Superior would be able soon to elect its school board, having decided in a referendum that the board should be elected instead of appointed, is to be before the lower house of the legislature Tuesday night.

The senate passed the measure, virtually without opposition a few days ago.

It is not expected to go through the assembly so easy, however, more than 2,000 names having been presented on petitions pertaining to the bill. The names are almost evenly divided as opposed and favoring the bill. They are now in the possession of Assemblyman Lang.

The bill provides that when a city chooses from the appointive to the elective form of naming the school board, the election of the board shall take place within thirty days after the date of the referendum. Under the present law, the citizens of Superior would have to wait until the regular fall elections to name the new school board.

FORM NEW SWIMMING CLASSES AT Y. M. C. A.

Swimming instruction classes for members of the Y. M. C. A. exclusively will be started soon after the close of the present "Learn to Swim" campaign of the association which is open to all boys and men of the city. Mr. Jensen will be from 5:15 to 6 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and from 8 o'clock to 8:45 on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. The boys' classes will be from 10 o'clock to 10:45 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. Members desiring to learn to swim have been asked to enroll with Mr. Jensen this week.

Sgt. James Moore is the first member of the police department to take his vacation this year. He starts on his annual half-months' absence today. Officer Joseph Rankin is substituting for Sgt. Moore at the police desk.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is: ABILITY TO ANSWER A PARTNER'S INFORMATIVE DOUBLE PROPERLY IS MOST ESSENTIAL TO PARTNERSHIP SUCCESS.

How the partner of an informative doubler should answer when the intervening adversary passes, will be the subject of this week's questions and answers. Many who know when to make an informative double do not know how to answer one.

Beginning today and continuing daily until Friday, hands will be given in which Dealer bids, Second Hand Doubles and Third Hand passes. The resultant problem will be: What should Fourth Hand declare in answer to partner's informative double Four hands per day, twenty in all, will be given. There will be a daily answer slip, and beginning tomorrow the answers to the questions of the previous day will appear with full explanation.

I urge you all to compete in this contest. Write in pencil now on the answer slip at the end of this article the declaration you would make in hands 1 to 4. Tomorrow compare your answers with mine and note whether we agree. Do this each day this week and see how near you can get to a perfect score of twenty. Induce the Bridge-playing members of your family and your friends to start today and see who has the best score at the end of the week. No Bridge contest could be more interesting or instructive than this.

This week's hands are held by East; South is the Dealer who bids and West the partner who doubles informatively. North always passes. New hands every day.

Today's Hands
South one Spade, West double, North pass; what should East declare, holding:

NO. 1	NO. 3
♠ A-Q-7	♠ J-8-7-2
♥ K-10-8-4	♥ 8-6-3
♦ J-6-3	♦ 8-7-4
♣ 10-7-5	♣ 5-4-2
NO. 2	NO. 4
♠ A-9-6-3	♠ 8-6-3-2
♥ 7-4-2	♥ 9-6-3
♦ 8-5-3	♦ 8-7-4
♣ 9-8-7	♣ 5-4-2

My answer slip reads:
No. 1 East should bid two Hearts.
No. 2 East should bid one No Trump.
No. 3 East should bid one No Trump.
No. 4 East should bid two Clubs.

My reasons in support of these declarations are:

No. 1. A Heart answer is better than a No Trump as it probably will fit the partner's hand. South, lacking Ace-Queen of his suit, may not open it at No Trump; and in that event East would win only one Spade trick.

No. 2. The adverse suit is stopped safely and the hand contains no other four-card suit.

No. 3. A most unattractive situation. A Business Pass should never be made with weakness; a bid is essential and the choice is between one No Trump and two Clubs. The adverse suit probably is stopped and the No Trump declaration is a contract to take only seven tricks, whereas the two-Club declaration calls for eight. Also, the club bid would deceive the partner concerning the number of Clubs; so, No Trump seems to be the lesser of the two evils.

No. 4. Just as in No. 3, a bid is essential. The choice, as in No. 3, is between No Trump and Clubs; but here there is little hope that the Spades will be stopped. Therefore, the two-Club bid, although it indicates four Clubs, will not convey as serious information as the No Trump which indicates a stopped suit. In this case two Clubs is the lesser evil.

Today's Hands
South one Spade, West double.

HUNDREDS GATHER AT GRAVE TO HONOR LA FOLLETTE MEMORY

Friends of Famous Leader Pay Tribute at Memorial Services

Madison—(AP)—"You gave to us a vision. You appointed us a star. And through Cities of Derision. We followed you from..."

Robert Marion La Follette's grave was the gathering place for hundreds Tuesday as Wisconsin state officials and citizens paid tribute to the former senator's accomplishments.

Around the plot in Forest Hills cemetery, Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber, Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin; Zona Gale, and Walter D. Corrigan, Milwaukee, eulogized the progressive leader. A memorial committee appointed by the state legislature was in charge.

The occasion marked the birthday of La Follette, born in 1855. "In one hundred and fifty-two years," Mr. Huber said, "there have been three great epochs of history, each by a man of destiny whose wisdom was true, whose vision was force in land, and nations far beyond the continent and even in wilds of which the emancipator never heard."

"Robert M. La Follette envisioned a government of the people, unshackled by the influence and the shackles of monopoly control. Much was accomplished, but much is still for us to do if we are to remain true disciples of his economic faith. When, that final victory comes; when government among men is freed from selfishness and freed; when official life is untainted by political corruption and graft—then will the name of Robert M. La Follette shine in a redemption light of its true greatness."

"We are here today to gather inspiration to perform the important tasks he left for us to do. We are here to rekindle our enthusiasm and devotion to the eternal principles he so steadfastly defended. We are here humbly seeking the true light for meeting the problems of coming events he predicted must come. We are finding the ways to carry forward. MAYOR HAS PLAN TO COLLECT GARBAGE FROM CITY'S HOMES

Sullivan Would Engage Man to Collect Refuse for Which He Would Receive Fee

Kaukauna—The city of Kaukauna will have a garbage collection system within a short time. At the meeting of the common council on Tuesday evening, June 13, Mayor W. C. Sullivan will recommend that the council grant an exclusive right to one man to collect garbage within the city limits. The mayor has at different times during the past year called the council's attention to this matter. Now he has just completed a survey of the city and has found that a great majority of the people want the service and would be glad to pay a small fee.

"Failure to properly care for garbage especially during the hot summer months constitutes a serious public health menace," the mayor said. A bill will be introduced in the next session of the legislature and will be sponsored by the state health department, to make it compulsory for communities to dispose of garbage. The large number of rats, mice, flies and other insect pests are directly traceable to the garbage menace.

"Arrangements already have been made to have this work done. Citizens desiring to have their garbage collected must provide suitable containers. Instructions will be issued on how to sort it. Garbage will be collected each day. A small fee per month will be charged for the service."

TWENTY MORE BIRDS LOST IN LONG RACE

Merchants Donate Cup for Owner of Loft Showing Greatest Speed

Kaukauna—Another disastrous race was written into the annals of the Kaukauna Pigeon club Sunday when nearly twenty of the club's best birds failed to return from Norfolk, Neb., where they were released early Sunday morning. The birds encountered severe storms on their way back to this city. Norfolk is approximately five hundred miles from Kaukauna by air line. Because of the failure of this race the club has decided not to race anymore birds this spring but will wait until fall when it is hoped the birds will have more success.

Through the kindness of several business men, a silver trophy will be awarded the loft showing the highest average speed for the spring races. The loft winning high average speed three times in succession will gain permanent possession of the cup. In order to win this club will have to win two spring races and the fall race in between or two fall races and the spring race coming between.

CUBS SWAMP CHUTE TEAM IN OPENER

Y. M. C. A. Team Rumps Off With 18 to 2 Win Over Hollanders

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. Cubes baseball team opened what promises to be a highly successful season on Sunday when the club swamped Little Chute 18 to 2. The Hollanders were outplayed in every phase of the game.

Scores started rolling in for the Cubs in the first inning when four Kaws dug their cleats into home plate. Three more came in the second and another one in the fifth. Two more came home in the sixth before the locals got their big inning, the seventh. The Little Chute squad went to pieces that inning and when the Cub bats were finally silenced, eight more Y. men had scored. This was enough scoring for the Kaws and in the eighth they took life easy and went out one, two, three.

The best the Hollanders were able to do was to score once in the fifth and to repeat the performance in the eighth.

Mereness and Werely started at bat with four runs each. The Cubs used in three sets of batteries to determine its strongest combination. During the first few innings Mereness did the twirling and Dix received. In the fifth they relinquished their positions to Kilgas and Pessen who in turn were supplanted by St. Mitchell and Hishon. The first set proved the most successful.

Considerable acreage of corn is being replanted in this vicinity this week on account of the unsatisfactory sprouting of the initial planting. During a brief interval of favorable weather about three weeks ago, some of the corn was planted but proper growth was hindered by prolonged wet and cold weather. The subsequent baked condition of the soil has caused the sprouts to be cramped and misshapen when reaching the surface. Other fields of corn are being planted for the first time this week, while some are still to be plowed.

With a agreeable weather this week, the planting of gardens has been happily proceeding, though nearly one month behind the usual time. Grain fields, which had been seeded during the second week in April, present an appearance promising a good crop. Grain which was seeded at a later period appears less favorable.

LAWMAKERS WON'T FINISH UNTIL JULY

Present Session of Legislature Is Longer Than Average Meeting

Madison—(P)—The legislature has passed the average date of adjournment for all sessions back to that of 1891, records in the secretary of state's office reveal.

The average date of adjournment for all of the eighteen past regular sessions is June 12.

The longest session since the beginning of the '90's was that of 1915 when sine-die adjournment was taken August 24.

The earliest adjournments were by the sessions of 1893 and '95. Each of these sessions adjourned on April 20.

The last regular session, that of 1925, was adjourned July 25. The legislatures of 1923 and 1921 both left Madison on July 14.

In 1919 and 1917 the law-makers finished in July again, adjourning on the thirtieth and sixteenth, respectively.

The 1913 and 1915 sessions lasted until August 9 and 24 respectively, but from 1911 until "back in '97," the sessions finished earlier. The 1911 session wound up on July 15. Previous dates of the drop of the gavel in both houses were:

- 1909—June 18.
- 1907—July 16.
- 1905—June 21.
- 1903—May 27.
- 1901—May 15.
- 1899—May 4.
- 1897—August 20.
- 1895—April 20.
- 1893—April 20.
- 1891—April 25.

Indications are that the present session of the legislature will not be finished before July 4, and possibly not until the middle of the month.

FIVE PERSONS ARE FLOGGED IN TEXAS

Officers Unable to Trace Man and Wife Who Were Victims of Masked Men

Marshall, Texas—(P)—Disappearance of two of five persons flogged at their farm homes near here by five masked men and arrest of one suspect, Tuesday caused state and federal authorities to center their investigation on reports that the attack involved poeage.

W. A. Straps and J. R. Richardson, their wives and Mrs. Hester Lee Mills, a half-sister of Straps, were the victims. They told officers that five masked men entered the Richardson home Wednesday night and beat the couple while their two sons, 14 and 15, were covered with pistols. Richardson said the men used a four-ply rope with knots in it.

After taking Richardson's shotgun and ammunition, the floggers went to the home of Straps and knocked him down with a pistol. Mrs. Straps' daughter of Mrs. Richardson, and Mrs. Mills were severely beaten.

Dr. Osborne, an employee of Cain Anderson, former landlord of the family, was arrested on charges of aggravated assault and violation of the state anti-mask law. He was released on bond.

Richardson said he and his wife were ordered to leave the country, while Straps told him he was instructed to take over the Richardson farm as well as to continue working his own. Straps and his wife disappeared from their farm home Saturday night and officers have been unable to trace them.

In all the action there is no scene of rough and tumble fighting; no shooting and no murder. Limotions blaze and chicken and die on the screen as they do in actual life. Characters suffer silently, just as humans do, with no rolling of the eyes and no tearing of the hair.

Kills Roaches, Bed-Bugs, Ants,
This Sure Way

Here is the simple and quick way to kill bed-bugs, roaches and ants: Just pour some of the new chemical discovery—P.D.Q., wherever you find these pests. The moment it touches the insects—they die. Can do no damage to your springs or furniture; won't rot or stain clothing. P.D.Q. is used and recommended by leading hotels, hospitals and railroads as the quickest and safest way of getting rid of pesky insects. Instantly it smotheres and kills the living creatures; coats their eggs and stops them from hatching and multiplying. A 25c package of this golden chemical will make a quart of mixture—so deadly it will kill a million bed-bugs. P.D.Q. can also be had in double-strength liquid form—ready for use. ## PURPLE BAYMEN TO LOSE SPORT STARS

Eight Lettermen Lost to Grid Team, Five to Cagers, Six from Track

Green Bay—With the passing of the class of '27, West Green Bay will be minus several notable athletes who have helped to extend the Purple school on the sport map.

In Valley Conference rating, the Purple teams stood out as the second choice in sport prowess. West opened up with a first in football, a fourth in basketball, and finished with a third in track.

From the football squad Capt. Quinn and Hussin will not be back to take their usual posts at the ends. Hawley and Johnson will be lost from the pivot position. Rayome from one of the flanks, and Crabbe, Rentmeister, and Vander Heyden from the backline. Although this makes a total of eighteen lettermen missing, a like number will be eligible for next season's eleven.

The basketball team will receive the biggest loss of the three sports. Quinn and Muckelson are through stepping into the ring. Borchers will take leave from one of the guards at the close of the first semester, while Crabbe, Wahl, and Huth will make their exit from the forward posts. Five lettermen will be gone, and only four returning.

Among the missing track men are Rayome and Adams from the distance runs. Rentmeister from the low hurdles, Quinn from the shot put and high jump, and Hussin and Wahl from the mile vault.

Quinn will complete one of the greatest athletic careers in West High sport history. The Purple husky will leave with three letters in basketball, two in track, and four in football. He was Captain and end on the football squad, center in basketball, and an all around man in track.

LEGION DISTRICT HAS RECORD MEMBERSHIP

The Eighth district of the American Legion of which Marshall C. Graff of Appleton is commander, has gone "over the top" in membership, according to Mr. Graff. The district has the highest membership in its history and by the time of the state convention at Marinette next fall, expects to have 15 per cent larger membership than 1926. Last year also was the largest in its history.

London—Properly attired in lounging suit and slippers, Jack, eldest of London Zoo chimpanzees, pours tea every afternoon for his family. All are very English, having come from a fine old chimpanzee family in British East Africa.

Motor Used By Lindbergh In Epic Flight Over Ocean Is Revolution In Design Of Modern Airplane

BY ISREAL KLEIN

The motor that speeded Captain Lindbergh and his airplane across the American continent and the Atlantic in three giant hops is the latest development in aviation.

Simple as it is, it has caused a revolution in airplane design. Its remarkable success in making a trip of more than 6,500 miles, at a pace of 100 miles an hour and without a hitch, is bound to make a profound impression on future aviation.

The engine is what is called an air-cooled, radial motor. The one Lindbergh used was a Wright Whirlwind, made by the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, a pioneer in this type of engine design.

Two essential facts make this motor different from others. First, it is air-cooled. Second, and more significant, its nine cylinders are ranged in a circle around a crankshaft with only one throw.

MORE EFFICIENT TYPE
This arrangement makes the motor more compact, lighter, and more efficient than the V-type engines formerly used in airplanes and similar to those now run in automobiles.

The whole engine weighs only 508 pounds, yet it can develop 250 horsepower, a remarkable achievement for such a small motor.

The crankshaft of this motor, unlike those of the V-type, or "inline" engines we know, has only one "throw," or crankpin, just like one of a single cylindered motor. It is therefore short and reaches directly out to the double-bladed propeller which is whirled about by the engine. The single throw carries what is called a "mother bearing," which is made so that it can whirl about the crankshaft, once to each series of power strokes of the entire engine. Attached to the "mother bearing" are the piston rods, which lead to the pistons in the nine cylinders. Each rod is placed on a bearing of its own within the "mother bearing."

CYLINDERS HIT IN ORDER

As a power stroke occurs in a cylinder, the piston pushes the "mother bearing" away from it. The next cylinder takes up this power and gives the "mother bearing" another push. And so the power explosions go on in order around the circle of cylinders, with the "mother bearing" pushed around as fast as the cylinders explode.

The whirling motion of the "mother bearing" on the crankpin turns the crankshaft, and thus whirled the propeller at the front of the plane.

Each cylinder is exposed, with thin fins lining it so as to radiate its heat as fast as possible. That makes it unnecessary to cool the engine with water. Lack of water for cooling reduces the weight needed in the power plant of an airplane, including not only that of the water itself, but the radiator, water jackets and connectors.

In addition, the parts of the engine are concentrated about a center in so simple and compact an arrangement as to further reduce weight and aid in the lifting and carrying power of the engine.

THIS IS THE WRIGHT WHIRLWIND MOTOR WHICH TOOK CAPTAIN LINDBERGH TO PARIS. INSET SHOWS DETAILS OF CRANKCASE. A, THE CRANKSHAFT; B, "MOTHER BEARING"; C, PISTON ROD.

EDUCATION GRADS WILL HAVE PRACTICAL WORK

Madison—(P)—Future graduates from the School of Education of the University of Wisconsin will have been trained in practical teaching work, according to an explanation of the new requirements by Prof. W. L. Uhl, director of the school.

The reorganized undergraduate curriculum in education is centered around two courses—psychology and practice of teaching, and the departmental teachers' course—which deal with teaching problems not only by class room discussion and lectures, but by actual teaching experience in the Wisconsin high school on the university campus. These two courses yield nine of the 15 credit units required for the teacher's certificate.

Of the remaining six credits, three are devoted, in a course called principles of education, to "a marshalling of students' experience for professional thinking," and three are elective, Prof. Uhl explains.

"The new plan has been adopted by the faculties of the University of Wisconsin with the belief that it will concentrate and integrate professional training and that it will utilize both the experimental backgrounds which students already possess and the laboratory facilities of Wisconsin high school," Prof. Uhl declares.

TIPS HAS HAPPENED
BILLY WELLS, NYDA LOMAX, and WINNIE SHULTON, employees from the big T. Q. CURTIS department store, are taken into the home of their employer as his wards for one year, because he wants to help them further their education. Billy, who is a student at the University of Wisconsin, is the only one that is serious. The other two lie to enjoy T. Q.'s generosity.

Billy is infatuated with DAL ROMANE, nephew of MRS. MEADOWS, hostess. She is harassed by the fear that he is "playing" both her and Winnie. Despite her father's warning, Billy tenderly remembers CLAY CURTIS, son of her benefactor, who has disintegrated himself and is living with Billy's mother in a poor part of the town, working in a factory by day, and writing a symphony at night. He has begun to come around to Billy's home and is beginning to command notice.

Unknown to T. Q., the girls learn he intends adopting one of them when the year is up and Winnie and Nyda begin a series of intrigues for his affection.

T. Q. begins to question silently the wisdom of his philanthropic experiment when he observes that Billy loses interest in her violin and that Nyda is not after all interested in fulfilling her ambition of becoming a kindergarten teacher. He takes them to Europe for a few months, hoping the trip will broaden their horizons. On their return, they find a Hindu fortune teller who tells the girls amazingly intimate things. He is driven out of town and Dal Romane's simultaneous disappearance makes Billy wonder if he were the Hindu's accomplice. She hears from him occasionally.

One night Nyda asks Billy to go to the library and get a book she has left there. Billy complies and while there breaks a strand of beads. While she is picking them up, the butler comes in and finds her stooping before the safe where T. Q.'s diamonds are kept. When Billy returns to her room, she hears a familiar whistle and stealing down to the garden, she finds Dal Romane.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLIV
Before she was in Dal Romane's arms, before she felt his long-desired lips upon hers again, Billy was shaking with a frenzy of delight.

"Are you really back?" she begged huskily. "Oh, Dal, Dal! I've been breaking my heart over you! Why did you stay away so long?"

The man's laugh was low and rich with satisfaction. "Business, Mignon. precious. One of us has to think of the Romane family's future. It won't be long now, will it, darling? Mr. and Mrs. Dalhart Romane! Do you like the sound of it?"

"Don't, Dal. You'll make me cry. Did you just get in? You couldn't wait until morning to see me, could you, dearest?"

"Of course not." He seized her fingers that were straying over his face and kissed them, one after the other, lingeringly. "But there was another reason why I had to see you tonight. I've just got in, but I'm leaving on the next train—"

"Oh, Dal!" She cried out sharply. "Oh, please, darling, don't leave me again! I can't stand it!"

"It is just for a little while, darling. I really shouldn't be here now, but I changed my routing at the last minute. I'm on my way to New York to wind up a really big business deal. Then I'll go back, darling. No one knows that I'm here but you, and you must promise me not to tell a soul that you have seen me."

"But why, Dal?" She drew back from his embrace, trying to see his face in the dark.

"Well, I'm not seeing Aunt Lucia, and she'd be terribly hurt if she knew I had been here, had seen you and not seen her. Besides, our midnight rendezvous between trains would cause talk—much talk. Come back, Billy. We mustn't quarrel now, dear. Kiss me again."

While she was in his arms it was almost enough, but she knew that when she was alone again she would lie for tortured hours awake and fighting her doubts of him. When he could not give her another minute she broke away from him, after a last clinging kiss, and began to run across the lawn.

Before she reached the house she looked up instinctively to see if any lights yet burned. Every window was dark, even Nyda's but as Billy's anxious eyes scanned the facade of the house she saw the figure of a man creeping down the fire escape that led to the balcony outside Nyda's windows. She had no doubt that it was Eddie Banning, leaving Nyda. But this time Billy was as anxious not to be detected as Eddie Banning could have been. Throwing herself flat on the lawn behind the trunk of a tree, she waited until the creeping figure had dropped to the ground, and had scurried off, almost bent double, toward the alley at the rear of the house.

With shaking fingers she fitted her night key into the front door of the house and was tiptoeing as noiselessly as possible up the staircase when a grotesque figure appeared, descending the stairs from the fourth floor. It was hard to recognize the impressive Sawyers in the night-shirted figure that held a pistol in a wavering right hand.

"It's just—me, Sawyers," Billy gasped in a hoarse whisper. "Don't shoot! I've just been out for a breath of fresh air. I couldn't sleep."

"I thought I heard a noise down below," Sawyers told her sourly, his eyes ugly with suspicion. "Something woke me up—don't know just what it was. But I guess it's all right."

Grumbling, his night-shirt flapping about his legs, Sawyers turned and went back up the stairs.

When Billy went down for breakfast the next morning, she learned from Mrs. Meadows that Nyda was still suffering from a headache and would not go to school that day. T. Q. was accepting his coffee from Mrs. Meadows when Sawyers bent over him with a request for a private word with him in the library. The millionaire frowned with annoyance, but something portentous in the face and voice of his butler made him follow him without argument.

"What's the matter, dear?" Mrs. Meadows inquired of Billy. "You look quite pale, and your hands are shaking. Didn't you sleep well?"

"No, I'm afraid I didn't," Billy answered, scarcely knowing what she said, for her heart was pounding with a sickening apprehension of what Sawyers was saying to T. Q. Curtis. The old sneak! What business was it of his that she had slipped out of the house after midnight? But Billy knew that if T. Q. asked her for an explanation she could not give it, could not involve Dal Romane.

Sawyers returned alone to the dining room.

"Mr. Curtis wishes to speak with you in the library, Miss Billy," he said to her, with no attempt to conceal the malice and contempt in his eyes.

She found her benefactor standing before the opened safe in the library, his tall, gaunt body sagging. And the eyes with which he looked at her were appalling and tragic, rather than angry.

The angry flush spread to her brow and throat, as she faced him defiantly.

"I suppose Sawyers has been tattling on me," she began indignantly.

"Billy, my safe was robbed last night," T. Q. interrupted her with sad sternness. "All of the jewelry I had given you girls and the unset diamonds and four hundred dollars in cash were taken. No, don't interrupt please! Sawyers saw you kneeling before the safe. He says you were trying the combination—"

"That's a lie!" Billy gasped. "I had opened that section of the bookcase to look for a bead that had rolled under it, but I never touched the safe! Surely, Mr. Curtis, you don't think—"

"I don't know what to think Billy, child. Sawyers called me in here a moment ago and asked me to open the safe, to see if its contents were intact. He refused to give his reasons for thinking I had been robbed, but when I found the safe empty of everything of value, he told me what he had seen last night. I find that I have been robbed as I've told you. I would almost as soon believe that I had robbed myself as to suspect you, child, but the facts are such that I must ask you for an explanation."

Billy's blue eyes were staring at him with incredulous horror. "You—you really think I robbed you, Mr. Curtis?"

"I'm not saying that I think so—yet. Sawyers saw you twirling the dial—all right, you say that is not true, but you admit that you were kneeling before the safe—"

"I told you I was looking for a bead," T. Q. said, his eyes fixed on Billy.

"I told you I was looking for a bead," T. Q. said, his eyes fixed on Billy. "I told you I was looking for a bead, but I swear I didn't touch the dial."

"Sawyers says he was awakened by a noise. He came downstairs to investigate, heard the outside door closing, saw you ascending the stairs in street clothes and coat. At half-past eleven you were in bed, in Nyda's room. Remember that I peeped in to tell you girls good night. Where were you, Billy?"

She opened her mouth to pour out the truth in passionate rebuttal, but before she had uttered a word she remembered her promise to Dal. She bent her head, upon her hands and burst into tears.

"Tell me what you did with the stuff of the truth in passionate rebuttal, but before she had uttered a word she remembered her promise to Dal. She bent her head, upon her hands and burst into tears.

"I have nothing to confess, Mr. Curtis. I don't blame you for suspecting me—I can see that anyone would—but I did not steal the things and I did not help anyone else to steal them."

"I want to believe you, Billy. But the safe was opened by someone who had the combination. You girls have seen me open it scores of times. Any acute observer could pick up a combination in that way. I'm afraid it was what the police call an 'inside job' child. Shall I call in Mrs. Meadows and Nyda and question them, before I question the servants?"

"I have told you all I have to tell," Billy answered proudly. "I could not sleep—that a wait about the grounds would do me good—"

"It was very cold last night, my dear. There is a heavy frost this morning," T. Q. reminded her sadly. "Of course I am going to question everyone else who was in the house last night, but before I do so, I beg you to confess to me if you did this thing, Billy. If it is fear of prosecution, I can tell you now that I shall not put the matter into the hands of the police, whether you confess or not. He paused and studied her pale wide-eyed face with pain-filled, tragic eyes. "Have you anything to tell me now, Billy?"

(To Be Continued)

Billy depends on Nyda to support her story about the book—and Nyda lies.

HUGE CROWD HEARS SPEAKERS AT EQUITY PICNIC AT BONDUEL

NEED FOR UNITED ACTION STRESSED IN FORMING CO-OP

Shawano-co Farmers Are Conducting Campaign to Organize Selling Group

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

Bonduel — An enormous crowd attended the picnic of the American Society of Equity local, in the grove of the Parking and Amusement association here Sunday. The picnicers came early and stayed late. Each one was able to select his own special form of amusement from the large assortment.

The Bonduel Brass band furnished the music, a game of baseball between the clubs of Pulaski and Bonduel was played and the Wisconsin Tobacco Producers and the Wisconsin Tobacco Growers' association supplied the speakers. The young people danced in the afternoon and evening.

The president of the cheese federation, Gus Brickbauer, and W. H. Hutter vice president, were speakers representing the cheese federation, while Judge D. O. Mahoney, J. H. Mahoney, president of the equity local, represented the equity society. R. H. Fisher, district attorney of Shawano-co, also addressed the gathering.

DISCUSS CO-OP MARKETING
As the farmers of Shawano-co are in the midst of campaign to organize for the purpose of selling their dairy products cooperatively, and representatives of the cheese federation are on the ground and are assisting the farmers, each speaker discussed some angle of cooperative marketing.

Judge Mahoney presented the history of the tobacco pool from its organization five years ago and Mr. Brickbauer that of the cheese federation. Mr. Hutter discussed the advantages of cooperation and marketing and Mr. Fisher the cooperation in marketing in all lines of production.

"The tobacco pool of southern Wisconsin is one of the strongest of its kind in this country," said Judge Mahoney. Some of the growers found fault with the pool in the past, however, because they did not get their pay when they delivered their crop of tobacco. But the growers themselves were the pool and when they found fault they were really criticizing themselves. Their officers had no money to pay for tobacco on delivery. After five years of operation, the pool is doing better business and is stronger than ever.

"At first we took everybody into the pool. The only question asked of an applicant was, 'Are you a tobacco grower?'" With the door wide open in this manner, we got considerable pool material. We have dropped the weak-kneed members collected in the past five years and in the late campaign have insisted on better material.

APPLY SAME PRINCIPLES
"The principles that govern the formation of the tobacco pool, you will have to apply here in the organization of dairy marketing. One of them is: 'The more tobacco we have, the more necessary it will be for dealers who want Wisconsin tobacco to come to us.' To the growers who say 'I may join the pool after a while,' we say, 'You'll join before the first of July or you don't get in this year.' These are the kind of growers that recognize that the tobacco association is a good thing, but they want George to do the work of organization and operation and to be free to come and go, according to their advantage."

"In organizing to sell dairy products cooperatively, you will find producers who wish to postpone joining until later, who want George to take the initiative and to do the work. All of you should wake up and become real leaders and then will see things move. If you get together in a cooperative, marketing organization, you will have unlimited power."

"Congress may legislate and legislate for the benefit of the farmer, but it cannot regulate the law of supply and demand for him. How many of you know what the word, 'Cooperation' means? You that do should become leaders and explain the meaning to others. You should meet in your school building and discuss cooperation. By talking about cooperation, you will find out what the word means and learn how to cooperate."

"Large creameries are buying out your small creameries and cheese factories. You need to go out and to help organize and to protect your business. The other fellows now have all the power. I hope you will get the

Woman Succeeds On Dairy Farm After She Failed

MRS. M. J. KING OF SALMON, IDAHO, AND LADY SOPHIA WINONA, ONE OF HER PRIZE JERSEYS.

Salmon, Idaho.—Sixteen years ago Mrs. M. J. King had six children to support and educate but no means to provide for them.

Today she gathers a monthly income of $800 and is head of a carefully built-up herd of Jerseys on a 165-acre ranch near here.

Her first venture into cattle-raising, however, wasn't successful. She turned to sleep and made an even worse failure of that business. It was on her second venture that she grew into one of the leading dairy farmers in Idaho. "My first cow," says Mrs. King, "was a wonder. In 30 days she produced 1,257 pounds of milk and supplied 11 customers."

But she sold her for $100 when the urge came to own sheep instead—and bought her back when the sheep venture turned out a failure.

That cow enticed her five calves still on the ranch, and $1,700 from the sale of others of her stock. Thus the business grew. She added more cows. Then she took on hogs, geese and pigs and finally she increased her acreage. All her cows are Jerseys, some of them record producers. Lady Sophia Winona, in 1923, won the Junior four-year-old championship with a record of 408.34 pounds of butterfat in 305 days. Others on the farm have brought her more prizes.

TWO OUTSTANDING COWS HELPED BUILD UP RECORD OF HERD

41 Grade and Purebred Guernseys on Farm of Fred Breitrick, Hortonville

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

Hortonville — Two individuals that have done much as pioneers to increase the profits of dairying in Outagamie-co are Fred Breitrick, route 2, and the other is Belle, his grade Guernsey cow.

Mr. Breitrick has been raising purebred and high grade Guernseys the past 26 years and Belle has been of considerable assistance to him for 16 of those years, and she is doing as well this year as ever. With the death of Lilly, another grade Guernsey cow, a short time ago, Mr. Breitrick lost one of the best producers ever bred on his farm. The record made by these cows led Earl Breitrick, a son of Fred, to say, "If I had four cows equal to Belle and Lilly on a forty-acre farm, I would not ask anything better."

Both these cows possessed the faculty of transmitting their excellence in dairy production to their offspring and as their calves, male and female, are distributed over large areas to other dairy farms, it is easy to see how these cows have assisted Mr. Breitrick in making the dairy industry profitable on his own farm and outside farms. One of the daughters of Belle was one of the herd that made the trip to the west several years ago on the dairy special. She was finally purchased by a dairymen at Fond du Lac.

TEST SHOWED VALUES
If it had not been for a cow testing association, the superiority of neither of these cows would have been brought to the attention of Mr. Breitrick. They certainly would not have been singled out as the high producers of the herd and might have been sold for the prices of average cows. But Mr. Breitrick was a member of a cow testing association and as such member, he knows the grade of his cows on the basis of production. If a boarder gets into his herd, its presence is discovered and it is soon sent to the block. He knows just what each cow is costing him, what he is getting for her products and how much the profits are. He also knows which calves to raise and which to dispose of and the value of each animal in his herd. Without the records supplied by the cow testing association, Mr. Breitrick's farm bookkeeping system would be imperfect.

According to the records of a cow testing association the total value of Belle's product for nine years is $2,125.34 and her profit is $1,358.53. The value of Lilly's product during the same interval was $2,256.02, and her profit was $1,435.04. "Neither of these cows owes us a cent," said Earl Breitrick, "but instead of that they have paid us well."

41 ANIMALS IN HERD
There are now 41 animals in Mr. Breitrick's herd, including 21 cows, of which 7 are purebred Guernseys. The average production of the herd for the past nine years is 338 pounds of butterfat. Mr. Breitrick says he raised the yearly average of

CORN CURED BY FIRE GIVES BEST RESULTS

Corn cured by fire drying possesses higher germination power than that cured outdoors, tests completed this spring by R. A. Amundson, county agent, indicate.

Seeds sown near a stove or in the attic near a chimney average 88 per cent strong and 6 per cent weak, he reported. Corn cured in a shed without heat averaged 69 per cent strong, although much of it dropped below 50 per cent.

Of the samples cured without the aid of fire, the ones dried in the sun or under the porch appeared to fare the best, Mr. Amundson learned. Fire drying produced the best results, however.

Mr. Amundson tested 88 samples of seed corn this spring. It tested from 26 to 100 per cent strong.

These results are about the same as those obtained by the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, where 200 samples of corn from all parts of the state were tested.

NEW TOBACCO FIELDS
The British Columbia coast is being tested for tobacco culture this year. Seed has been imported and is being grown on two half-acre experimental plots at Saanich. One is irrigated and the other worked without irrigation to discover the better method.

BEST AT TILING
Cicero—Charles Mueller and Henry Tesch are busy at tiling. Mr. Mueller is laying about 2,000 tiles and Mr. Tesch, 300.

WILL HAVE MEETING
Cicero—The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. of Appleton, will hold a meeting in the Equity hall Tuesday evening.

CULTIVATING CORN
Cicero—A few farmers in this vicinity are at cultivating their corn.

SELLS THREE COWS
M. G. Colson sold three milk cows to Eli Guyette last week.

His cows 50 pounds of butter since joining the cow testing association. During the nine years, five cows made 500 pound records, 24 made 400 pound records, 12 nearly 500 pounds. 64 cows made 200 pound records and 25 cows nearly 400 pound records. All the cows that made these records were bred and raised on the Breitrick farm.

For the nine years, Belle made an average yearly record of 425 pounds of butterfat and Lilly, her half sister made 445 pounds. In 1925-26, 26 cows produced 148,265 pounds of milk and 7,400 pounds of butterfat. The average per cow was 7,650 pounds of milk and 352 pounds of butterfat. In that year, Lilly produced 11,770 pounds of milk and 509.1 pounds of butterfat. Belle produced 325 pounds of butterfat. Star, a grade, produced 9,885 pounds of milk and 449 pounds of butterfat; Lys Secret, a purebred, 8,201 pounds of milk and 331.9 pounds of butterfat; Susie, a grade, produced 7,929 pounds of milk and 407.6 pounds of butterfat; Pat, a grade cow, produced 7,811 pounds of milk and 401 pounds of butterfat.

The present herd sire is Caribou Jostanus. He has a daughter that made 322 pounds. A. R., at four years. A good part of the Breitrick herd is granddaughters of Penecey's Golden Day Secret whose dam made 1,119 pounds of butterfat.

FLY TRAPPING SETS MARK IN CHECKING SCREW WORM EVIL

Texas Farmers Battle Pests Causing Heavy Losses to Herds of Cattle

Menard, Tex. — While fly trapping does not seem an inviting undertaking, citizens of Menard-co have adopted this method of checking screw worms, which cause great loss of dairy and beef cattle.

During the first eight months of last year nearly 1,000 gallons of dead flies had been emptied from the 218 traps erected. The highest average record of flies emptied from the traps on any one of the cattle ranches was 12 gallons.

To test the benefit derived from fly trapping, a fairly good record of the number of screw worm cases developed on 10 ranches of the fly-trapping organization running 29,300 head of cattle, sheep and goats was kept from early spring to the middle of September. Only 253 cases were reported, while on two ranches far removed from the trapping district, running approximately one-tenth as many head of livestock, 314 cases were reported.

BIG LOSSES RECORDED
The last fiscal year was the worst in the history of Texas for screw worm trouble. Fly trapping as a means of reducing the evil was not well established among the cattlemen, but the small amount of experience in years past was encouraging and seemed to warrant a trial.

A study of the fly-trapping work that had been done by the U. S. bureau of entomology revealed that a

CHAMP HEN PAYS

"Matzie," the white leghorn hen that last year set a world's record by laying 351 eggs in 365 days, is proving a big money-maker for the University of British Columbia farm at Vancouver. She's brought in $2,900 for her eggs and stock.

WHAT TRACTOR COSTS
A survey of 60 farms in Illinois, made by the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, shows that it cost $221.22 on an average to operate a two-plow tractor last year. Operation of the average three-plow tractor cost $329.32.

FEED PIGS YOUNG
Pigs should be accustomed to grain feeding before they are weaned, says the Kansas State Agricultural college. While still suckling they should have access to grain and should get some tankage and skim milk. They won't lose weight when weaned.

GIVE LIMESTONE TIME
Fore a satisfactory stand of sweet clover on soils too sour for it, limestone should be applied at least six months before the clover crop is to be seeded. It requires that much time to sweeten the soil.

MORE STRAWBERRIES
After a good winter, the strawberry plantations of Canada expect to produce a larger yield than that of last year. The estimated yield for this year is nearly 13,500,000 quarts.

SPRAY ASH TREES
Destruction of ash trees by the oyster scale can be prevented by spraying with an oil emulsion. The scale attacks more than 100 types of trees, mostly the ash, poplar and lilac.

DON'T KEEP ROBBERS
Broilers are cheap this year, so don't feed them longer than necessary, advise poultry experts. They should be sold when the average weight is not more than two pounds.

WORK OFF ROAD TAXES
Stockbridge—The Stockbridge farmers are beginning to work off their road taxes. Gravel hauling has commenced although the pits are not in very good condition.

MOVE TO FARM
Leominster—Mr. and Mrs. Eli Guyette are moving to their farm which they purchased recently from Jim McHugh.

SKIM MILK DISCARD FINDS MYRAID USES

May Emerge as Buttons, Beads, Poker Chips, Wisconsin Prof Points Out

Madison — Skimmed milk, left over from butter making, may emerge into buttons, beads, poker chips, billiard balls, cigar holders or any one of a hundred other things made from the same materials, it is demonstrated by Professor H. A. Schuette, University of Wisconsin chemist.

Recovered casein, the most abundant protein in skimmed milk, when properly compounded with certain chemicals furnishes a substitute for horn and ivory, Professor Schuette explains.

It also makes an excellent glue, he finds. It has a limited use in drug or operations, in foods for diabetics, as an ice cream filler, as a constituent of baking powders, in leather dressing and finishing, in making shoe polishes and composition cork. In textile printing and in the manufacture of cloth and linoleum, among other things.

support of all the people here in your work."

MUST MEET OPPOSITION
"What is wrong with farmers organizing to sell their products cooperatively?" inquired Mr. Brickbauer of his audience. "Nothing at all. It is the natural thing for them to do. The bigger your organization the louder it will talk. Whether it is a cheese organization, a tobacco organization or an equity organization, get into your organization and help and stick. The profits and the salaries of the opposition are in danger and that is the reason they are trying to prevent you from selling your products cooperatively."

"The Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation started out 13 years ago with one warehouse at Plymouth and handled 6,000,000 pounds of cheese the first year. A short time ago, we dedicated our fourteenth warehouse and last year we handled 32,000,000 pounds of cheese. The building was not large enough to accommodate the crowd that assembled there. The founders of the federation were fighting for their existence and the crowd at the dedication were ready to take up the fight."

"Delegations of Shawano-co milk producers have visited Plymouth several times to induce the federation to help them organize the county. We are here. But if you think we are going to do the work without your help, you are mistaken."

BUTTER TRADE QUIET DURING PAST WEEK

Cheese, Cattle and Sheep Prices Higher, While Hogs Show Decline

Madison — (AP)—Butter markets were quiet, cheese higher, hogs declined, cattle higher and sheep higher, during the past week, the state department of markets announced.

In the weekly review of the market conditions, the department said trading in butter markets was rather quiet; the supply was more than ample to the demand and the pressure to sell at the beginning of the week caused fractional declines in prices. "Sharp price declines were prevented by the buying of long lines for storage purposes," the report continues. "Buyers operated cautiously and receivers were storing some of their high cost butter. Centralized car market was quiet during the week. Butter prices are slightly higher than last year at this time."

CHEESE PRODUCTION GROWS
Production of cheese, according to the review, "is showing an increase and receipts for the past weeks have compared very favorably with corresponding periods last year. Pastures throughout Wisconsin are in excellent condition. Cheese prices are about 2 1/2 cents higher than last year at this time."

"Liberal supplies of hogs coupled with a sluggish dressed trade caused prices to decline from 35 to 75 cents as compared with the previous week. Shipping demand was not very broad. Liberal receipts of packing sows resulted in an accumulation of stock until the close of the week, when a fair clearance was effected as a result of reduced prices. Hog prices are $5.00 lower than last year at this time."

"Prices worked higher in the cattle markets as compared with the previous week. Fed steers and yearlings increased from 25 to 40 cents. Cattle prices are about $1.65 higher than last year at this time."

"Sharp increases in prices featured the sheep market last week. The increases were caused by dwindling supplies of lambs from all sections. The shortage in receipts forced fed lambs $1.50 higher as compared with the previous week. Yearlings advanced $1.00 to $1.25 and aged sheep 50 to 75 cents. Sheep prices are about $1.25 lower than last year at this time."

PURCHASE GUERNSEY BULL
J. R. Gowerman recently purchased a purebred Guernsey bull from Mr. Oakes at Shiocton.

Roadside Marketing Here To Stay, U. W. Expert Says

Madison — (AP)—Roadside marketing is here to stay, in the opinion of Frank J. Holt of the agricultural journalism department at the University of Wisconsin.

This method of selling farm products has extended the market place of the city to the highways of the open country, he believes. Instead of making the round of the town market, with a basket under her arm, many a housewife now feels she can do better by taking the car and visiting a country roadside market.

"This producer-to-consumer type of selling, he said, 'is a modern development, coming as it does with improved methods of traveling and transportation. It is an established side line on farms in some sections of the country, being highly developed on improved highways near towns and cities. However, with the great increase in tourists now traveling country roads during the summer, farmers bring long distances from towns and sometimes off the main roads, have been able to develop a trade that enables them to profitably dispose of considerable farm produce."

"There are still untouched opportunities for roadside marketing in Wisconsin. Good roads cover the state.

Call them up Long Distance ... order more

A MADISON, Wisconsin, clothier found that he was having a run on a special suit of collegiate type. He called the Chicago manufacturer on Thursday morning. Eight suits arrived on Friday. The entire lot was disposed of Saturday. "Had it not been for the telephone," he writes, "we would not have been able to satisfy the demand for a week-end business so profitable to us."

From all parts of the country comes similar news. From Wheeling, West Virginia: "A tremendous demand for slickers caused us to save many sales that would have been lost, had we not used the long distance telephone to secure immediate shipments." Louisville, Kentucky: "We use Long Distance for making purchases . . . for hurrying along information and shipments. . . . In many cases it has saved us trips to market." Rochelle, Illinois: ". . . not a week goes by but we use Long Distance to take care of rush orders. . . ."

Nearly every business can use long distance calls to cut costs, save trips and get needed goods. They'll nearly always cost less than you think. Number, please!

ACCREDITED AREARetest Is Completed by Farmers With Less Than Half of 1 Per Cent Reactors

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Walter A. Duffy, newly appointed commissioner of Agriculture, has announced that under application to the Federal Department, Waupaca-co has been declared a "Modified Accredited Area." The order went into effect June 1, 1927. This announcement was expected months ago.

Those making the follow-up tests of infected dairy herds in Waupaca-co, admitted that it was found that less than one-half of 1 per cent of bovine tuberculosis had been found during the last re-test which was completed in 1926.

Some of the best markets for dairy cows are open only to those districts that have become Federal Accredited areas, through the county wide initial test, followed by two subsequent tests of all herds where any reactors were found during the first county test.

The follow-up tests were at six months intervals so the third test occurred just one year after the first county test.

A shortness of funds and the clamor for testing in nearly a score of counties that had applied after Waupaca-co had finished its first test, delayed the retests several months.

9 CASES OF CHICKEN POX REPORTED IN WEEK

Only nine cases of chicken pox and one case of measles was reported to the health department last week, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. A mild epidemic of chicken pox, started the week before last, is continuing because parents fail to observe quarantine laws and allow sick children to leave their homes, Mr. Sanders said. An effort is being made to enforce the quarantine rules more strictly.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
